A Percible Tunstrate

In his speech at Palmyra Gen. Blair spoke sensibly and to the point of the infamous and unconstitutional "test oath" as follows: "The oath could be taken by no man who lived in Missouri in 1861 without peijury, and Brake intended it for pone but perjurers. But it was unconstitu-tional, and to take it was like the prom-ise made to the robber who robs you and then refrains to take your life because of an oath-he extorts from you that you will not complain of him. You make the oath, but you do complain, and society will not permit you to keep your oath! it forces you to disclose the crime. So, then, knowing from one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, that the Court bas decided this oath to be unconstitutional, I mean to take it, and domand by right to be registered."
